THE 2002
LOGICA ARMCHAIR
TREASURE HUNT

Christmas was coming and young Dick was getting very excited.

It's nearly time for the Treasure Hunt!

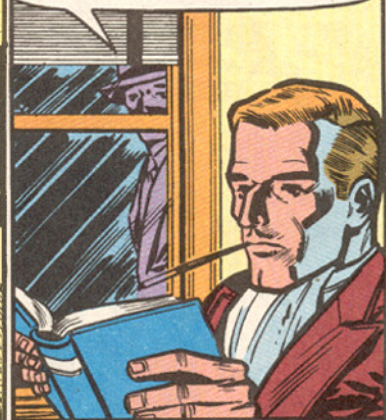

Dick loved the mental stimulation and the social opportunities that the ATH afforded...

I need to get a team together pronto, talk tactics in the pub. But some of these people I work with are real drongoloids...

Ah, there's Charlie. He's much more the kind of person I need - he can read books!

Dick was ready and waiting to download and print off the ATH when it was published at midnight on Monday 16th December 2002 at <http://public.logica.com/~ath>

I really should go to bed, but it's such a good read, I just can't put it down!

This would be the first of many such sleepless nights over the next four weeks...

Sometimes a particular puzzle or question just drives you nuts

"Which Bond movie boasted an old and a new avenger?"
Doh! I'm sure I know that!?

There were prizes on offer for the best solutions, the first to solve the crime, best first-time entries, but Dick knew there was no better feeling than that moment when you work out where the treasure is buried...

I was so sure that the map of Sofia must mean the treasure was buried on Wimbledon Common?!?

But ultimately Dick knew it was the taking part not the winning that mattered, that special team spirit...

Wasted...

He was just too much of a liability...

-THE END-
